

having something inside you cannot fully express

feeling an inner life that has no clean outlet sensing a form before you can make it real carrying a voice that does not yet have a place to land

That part will resonate with a lot of people.
Some will hear it literally as music.

Some will hear it as:

words they cannot say

art they cannot make feelings they cannot explain identity they cannot express a self that exists inwardly more clearly than outwardly
