

All our experience collide into one world
How do I survive
How do I move through it
Where can we find compromise
What needs to be protected
What in me is deflection
To feed the Egos cries
Is it enough to just survive
The hate
The wars
The devastation nature derives
One world
And what do we seek

All our experiences colliding into one world
The joy of coming together
Of all that we can create
And the pain we can cause
The fear

The hate

The war

The devastation nature can derive

How do I survive

How do I move through it

Where can we find compromise

What is being built

What is being destroyed

Should some things be destroyed

What deserves endings

What in me can build

What in me destroys

What in me is deflection

To feed the ego's cries

Is it enough to just survive

One world

And what do we seek

All our experiences colliding into one world

The joy of coming together

Of all that we can create

And the pain we can cause
The fear
The hate
The war
The devastation nature can derive
How do I survive
How do I move through it
Where can we find compromise
What is being built
What is being destroyed
Should some things be destroyed
What deserves endings
What in me can build
What in me destroys
What in me is deflection
To feed the ego's cries
Is it enough to just survive
One world
And what do we seek